The publishers reserve the right to omit any advertisement on any special occasion.

BECAUSE.

Because over [illegible]
Feels incessant desire
To give to [illegible]
Its fragrance and [illegible]

Because [illegible]
Blow [illegible]
Their roses and thorns
To that which they [illegible]

Because May gives [illegible]
To murmuring streams
And Night to our pains
Gives repose in dreams

Because—the sky gives
The bird to the bower
And morn drops the dew
In the cup of the flower

Because—when the wave
Falls asleep on the strand
It trembles and [illegible]
A kiss to the sand

For these reasons my own
My heart is inclined
To give thee the best
I have in my mind

I give my sad thoughts
My griefs and my fears
Take these as the earth
Takes the night's shower of tears

Of my infinite longing
Take dearest this part
Take my light and my shadow
O child of my heart

Take thou [illegible] trust
Which [illegible]
And take all [illegible]
With their [illegible] caresses

Take my soul which [illegible]
Without sail [illegible]
But pointing [illegible]
As its star [illegible]

And take O my darling
My precious my own
This heart which would perish
Its love being gone

GRAINS OF GOLD.

GATHERED FROM MANY MINES.

Our principles are the springs of our actions, our actions the springs of our happiness or misery.

Choose that course of life which is the most excellent, and habit will render it the most delightful.

We ought not to isolate ourselves, for we cannot remain in a state of isolation.

Social intercourse makes us the more able to bear with ourselves and with others.

Govern your thoughts when alone and your tongue when you are in company.

True eloquence consists in saying all that is necessary and nothing more.

Application is one of the great secrets of perfection.

Success is the offspring of cheerfulness and courage.

Contentment is a pearl of great price, and whosoever procures it at the expense of the thousand desires, makes a wise and a happy purchase.

Many in hot pursuit have hastened to the goal of wealth, but have lost, as they ran, those apples of gold, the mind and the power to enjoy it.

Health is the greatest blessing of mankind, yet it is treated as the least.

Be more anxious for profit from your affliction than for support under it.

It is less pain to learn in youth than to be ignorant in old age.

Cunning is nothing else but the fool's substitute for wisdom.

Gratitude is a duty none can be excused from, because it is always at our own disposal.

Intellect is not the moral power—concience and honor, not talent make the man.

Pride that dines on vanity, sups as surely on contempt.

Vanity makes men ridiculous, pride makes them obious.

None more impatiently suffer injuries than those who are most forward in inflicting them.

The true secret of living at peace with all the world is to have an humble opinion of ourselves.

The greatest hero is not he who subdues nations, but he who conquers himself.

He who cannot find happiness at his own fire-side need not look for it elsewher.

True goodness is invariably accompanied by gentleness and humble-mindedness.

A noble heart, like the sun, shows its brightest aspect in its lowest estate.

A proud man never shows his pride so much as when he is civil.

Proud looks lose hearts, but courteous words will win them.

The more true merit a man has the more does he appland it in others.

It is a noble satisfaction to be ill spoken of when we are conscious of doing right.

We cannot control the tongues of others, but a good life enables us to despise calumny.

Be not too brief in conversation lest you be not understood, neither too diffuse, lest you be troublesome.

Orators are the most vehement when they have the weakest cause, as men on horseback when they cannot walk.

Most of the shadows that cross our path through life are caused by standing in our own light.

Good thoughts are as useless as good dreams, if they are suffered to remain thoughts only.

—France exported, last year, false hair, beautifully got up in different shapes, to the amount of 130 tons, worth nearly two million francs. Nearly the whole of this went to England and America. The Paris [illegible] now carefully collect all small paper parcels with hair combings, which ladies and servants daily throw out of the windows, and obtain [illegible] francs per kilogram for the [illegible].

"Where is your husband?" asks [illegible] in Paris "He went [illegible] a cigar," replies the lady. "[illegible] gone long?" "Eighteen [illegible]." "He is quite right," [illegible] gentleman philosophi[illegible] to choose a good [illegible]

Incidents of Eighteen Twelve.

There are two occurrences in the war of 1812 which are characteristic of the Kentucky soldiers of that day. One occurred while the American prisoners were being marched through Canada to Fort George. On one occasion, the commission officer commanding the guard bought some whiskey and invited the Kentucky corporal to drink. The corporal drank without hesitation.

The British Captain then called upon the Corporal for a sentiment.

The Corporal rather declined, saying:

"You have been kind in inviting me to drink, and I may give offence by giving a toast."

"No," said the Captain, "give a sentimental toast."

The Corporal said:

"May the skins of kings be made drum heads, and the shanks of tories drum sticks to beat the Americans to arms."

The British Captain remarked:

"Sir, you must remember where you are and act accordingly."

A British Lieutenant, who composed one of the company, said:

"Stop Captain you called for a sentiment and must not take exception."

Suffice to say the British officers swallowed the toast.

The other happened at Camp Jackson, near New Orleans, on the 8th day of January, 1815. After the British had made their last charge on our breastworks they sent in a flag of truce which was met by a flag from the American army, asking the privilege of removing their killed and wounded, which were numerous.

A line was designated so far from our breastworks as to prevent the enemy from discovering the nature of our defenses, and American soldiers placed on one side of the line and the British on the other. While their dead and wounded were being taken to this line and received by British soldiers, a soldier belonging to the latter remarked to a Kentucky soldier:

"It is useless for you to continue the contest. We are determined to take the city. We have Lord Packenham, Lord Gibbs, and Lord Keene, with a powerful army and are determined to take the city."

To which the Kentucky soldier replied:

"We have on our side the Lord God Almighty, the Lord Jesus Christ, and the hero Ole Hickory, and I'll be damned if we don't whip you."

Kentuckians may be overruled, but still they will crow.

Neck twisting in Church.

A good story is told of an eccentric old parson who was sorely annoyed by a habit his people had acquired (and which prevails, by the way, in all other churches, even now and hereabouts to some event), of twisting their necks around every time anybody entered the door and passed up the aisle of the meeting house to see what manner of person it might be.

Wearied with the annoyance, the old man exclaimed, one Sunday,

"Brethren if you will only cease turning your heads around whenever the door opens, and will keep your attention on me, I will promise to tell you, as I preach, who it is that comes in."

Accordingly, he went on with the services and presently made a stop as one of the deacons entered, saying:

"That is Deacon———, who keeps the grocery opposite."

And thus he announced, in turn, the advent of each individual, proceeding the while with his sermon as composedly as the circumstances would admit, when at last a stranger came in, when he cried out:

"A little old man in green spectacles and a drab overcoat—don't know him—you can all turn round and look for yourselves, this time."

It is hardly necessary to add that the good man carried his point, and there was but little neck twisting seen in his congregation after that day.

Character Growth.

From the minute a babe begins to notice surrounding objects, his character is in process of formation. Day by day, through fancy and childhood, here a little and there a little, character grows and strengthens, until, good or bad, it becomes almost a coat of mail. Look at a model man of business—prompt, reliable, cool and cautious, yet clear headed and energetic. When do you suppose he developed all the admirable qualities? When he was a boy. Let us see the way in which a boy of ten gets up in the morning, works, plays, studies, and we will tell you just what kind of a man he will make. The boy who is late at the breakfast table, late at school, and never does anything at the right time, stands a poor chance to be a prompt man. The boy who neglects his duties, be they ever so small, and then excuses himself by saying, "Oh, I forgot! I didn't think!" will never be a reliable man.

—John Collins, a talented London pickpocket, took an active part in the Moody and Sanky meetings, and after the departure of the evangelists became a popular singer and exhorter. His piety was not questioned by his fellow workers, and his friends among the thieves did not expose him. Thus he was enabled to pick pockets with great facility, often taking the watches and pocketbooks of men and women while praying at their sides, or while explaining to them the way of salvation. Continued success, perhaps, made him careless, for, while taking part in the exercises at the laying of a corner stone for a church in Uxbridge, he was caught stealing a watch from a woman who was sharing a hymn book with him during the singing. He was arrested, and then a great number of robberies were traced to him.

—There is an admirable partition of the qualities between the sexes, which the author of our being has distributed to each with a wisdom which challenges our unbounded admiration:

Man is strong—woman is beautiful.

Man is daring and confident—woman diffident and unassuming.

Man is great in action—woman in suffering.

Man shines abroad—woman at home.

Man talks to convince—woman to persuade and please.

Man has a rugged heart—woman a soft and tender one.

Man prevents misery—woman relieves it.

Man has science—woman has taste.

Man has judgment—woman has sensibility.

Man is a being of justice—woman is an angel of mercy.

How John Bunyan Got Out of Prison.

Bunyan was in his day quite a controversial writer, and was very severe upon the Quakers until he learned that through their intercession he obtained his release from prison. It is a somewhat noteworthy fact, now well authenticated, that Charles II liberated Quakers and Puritans from confinement through the personal intercession of the Quakers, among whom was Richard Carver, who was mate of the fishing vessel which conveyed the King to France after the famous battle of Worcester, 1651. This honest Quaker sailor, after twenty years had rolled away, appealed to the King in person in behalf of those who were in prison. When the fugitive King fled for his life this sailor conveyed him on shore. The vessel was bound for Poole, coal laden, with two passengers, who passed for merchants running away from their creditors. The fugitive King and Lord Wilmot were landed at Fecamp in Normandy, upon the back of a Quaker, and the vessel recrossed the Channel to Poole. When the honest sailor appeared before His Majesty the King expressed his astonishment that he had not previously sought some reward. The sailor replied that he had done duty, and God had rewarded him with peace of mind. "And now sire I ask nothing for myself but that your Majesty will do the same for my friends that I did for you: set the poor, pious sufferers at liberty, that you may have that peace and satisfaction that always follow good actions." King Charles thereupon pardoned four hundred and seventy one Quakers and many independents and Baptists—among them John Bunyan.

Walking a Rope Over Niagara.

On the 8th instant Mlle Spelterini crossed the rapids of Niagara on a single rope. She accomplished the feat in eight minutes from the New York side, and after a short rest returned in the same manner in twelve minutes. Blondin, now performing in this city, was the first to attempt the wonderful performance and Mlle Spelterini's late exploit he was generally known as the hero of the Niagara.

—"And again," reports a committee of the Texas Legislature, to whom a resolution taxing dogs—males $1 a year and females $5—had been referred, "we think that the bill itself makes invidious distinction between the sexes. We are humanely speaking, fully prepared to admit the superiority of the gentler sex, but we are not so sure that the difference is five hundred per cents."

—Deacon Parkinson remarked in a prayer meeting in Carson, Nevada, that he knew young boys who went to saloons where their fathers had credit, got bottles filled with whiskey ostensibly for the parents, and got drunk on the liquor themselves. He suggested earnest prayer for those boys.

—The following story is told of George Sand. A visitor, M. Baker, had passed a week at her home and had exhibited an inordinate love for cabbage. About to depart he begged a souvenir of his visit. She looked at him a moment in surprise, and then calling her gardener said, "Baptiste, one of your fine cabbages for this gentleman."

—Three boys, the eldest nine years old, went strawberrying near Pittsburg the other day. Not returning at night a search was begun and then dead bodies were found completely buried in a sand bank. A half filled dish of berries gave a clue to their whereabouts. It is supposed they were hunting swallows nests when the bank gave away.

—The bank of France owns a brick for which 1,000 francs in specie were paid. It was taken from the ruins of a burnt house, and the image and figure of a note for 1,000 francs are burnt on the surface, transferred by the heat from a real note. This brick the bank redeemed on presentation, as if it were the note itself.

—In the Pyrenees the following notice is posted in a hotel: "All travelers on their arrival will be entitled, gratis, to a bath with friction and special lotions. These lotions will guarantee the traveler perfect immunity from the numerous insects which infest the hotel."

—A London temperance exhorter erected a tent close by a groggery, intending to ruin its business and convert its patrons to sobriety, but the police arrested him for disturbing the peace, a magistrate fined him and the injured rumseller brought a lawsuit to recover damages.

—A bridge across the Hudson at Poughkeepsie is really about to be commenced, and the completion is promised by the end of 1878. Requests for proposals have been sent to contractors.

—Five years imprisonment is the punishment that must be endured by the Parisian who attempted unsuccessfully, to obtain admission as a student to a medical college on the credentials of another man.

—A Sheriff is not without honor in Ohio. A Cleaveland paper says: "Sheriff Winslow has received many compliments for the perfect manner in which the hanging was accomplished."

—The Russians are experimenting in England with a gun that throws a ball weighing 1,650 pounds, and consumes 300 pounds of powder at each discharge.

—Centennial poem left over on the Fourth may be sent to the Philadelphia Item, which offers a prize of $300 for the best.

CARL SCHURZ.

The New York Tribune of last Thursday, publishes the following extract from a private letter written by Carl Schurz

There is a striking contrast between the hard soft money position in the Democratic platform and candidates, and the strong fearless position of moral duty in the final paragraph of Governor Hayes' letter of acceptance. The views he expresses about the civil service reform therein are, most clearly defined and in every respect most satisfactory. A civil service reform programme [illegible] in a few words and that programme is accompanied by the pledge of an honest man that if he is elected it shall be faithfully carried out in its completeness, and that no personal ambition shall interfere with the work. Never had civil service reformers a better opportunity to fight with a chance of real success—I mean the success of the cause, and not only the success of a candidate or a party. I shall support Gov Hayes heartily and as actively as I can. I have never felt more clearly conscious of doing the right thing for the best interests of the country

There are many thousands of voters who have in the like manner been influenced by the splendid letter of acceptance written by Governor Hayes. The character and declaration of the Republican candidates are of much more importance than the platform of their party. The people in fact regard political platforms as mere traps. If their promises are disregarded, no individual can be accused of treachery, but when a candidate makes certain promises over his own signature, there is something tangible. When Schurz wrote the letter from which we quoted, he gave expression to the sentiments of the large number of influential people with whom he has been associated politically and whose influence has always been cast in favor of practical reform, the breaking up of rings whether for plunder or for the advancement of unscrupulous but ambitious men

IN A DILEMMA.

Governor Tilden is at present the most perplexed man in America. How to frame his letter of acceptance and satisfy the people at large and his own party at the same time is a riddle that even as wily a politician as he will hardly be able to solve. First in importance is the subject of civil service reform. His party clamors for the removal of all who are in office, but the sentiment of the country favors the dismissal of those only who are unfit to hold their positions. If he disgusts his own retainers he might gain favor with the public, but not enough to elect him. He is a hard money man, but the platform is framed so as to catch those who have become infected with the inflation contagion. If he is too strongly in favor of solid money, there is danger that he will lose Ohio, Indiana and other States where the people are opposed to resumption, if he is equivocal he will fail to carry those Atlantic States that are presumed to be Democratic, if Democracy is sound in the financial question. If he says nothing about the public schools it will lose him thousands of votes, if he gives a clear expression of opinion on the subject he is in danger of losing the support of the ecclesiastical wing of his party, which is the strong one in his own State. It is no wonder that he is deliberate about penning his letter, for he has before him the most difficult task ever cut out for an aspiring politician. The contrast in the position of Hayes is quite striking. He said exactly what he thought being under no necessity of trimming, having a clear and well defined party policy to guide him

HERETOFORE California has seldom been favored with the presence of the more prominent political speakers of the nation. Strangers have been sent here, men we never heard of before, and we have made stars out of them, but that sort of thing will not answer any longer. In this campaign the fate of the party may depend upon the vote of our State, and the National Committee should detail for us some of the eminent men who will take the stump for Hayes and Wheeler. Four years ago, great attention was given to haranguing the negroes in the South. This year we should like to see some of the big men visit California, especially Bristow, whose presence would arouse the greatest enthusiasm. [illegible] are a lot of corrupt local [illegible]pers who hire themselves out every campaign, with whom the public are heartily disgusted. There [illegible] also numerous very insignificant [illegible] who have their names announced on the regular programmes, who render no service and are a nuisance instead of a benefit. Political committees will do well to provide a higher order of talent than is commonly sent into the field for the education of the masses.

[illegible] Democrats talk of running [illegible] Carpenter for Congress [illegible] district. We will guarantee [illegible] will be the worst beaten [illegible] who ever tried to get votes [illegible]. His attempt to break [illegible] university will ensure his [illegible]

CORRUPTION IN EUROPE.

There is so much noise about the corruption in the American civil service that one might suppose that our people were the most unscrupulous in the world. We are bold enough to give the opinion that our service is more honest than that of any other country. The British are the most pretentious, but the manner in which they support whole droves of titled and untitled men in sinecure positions is vastly worse than anything we can show in this country. The bribe-taking on the part of her petty officials is proverbial. When France entered upon the war against Prussia, it was discovered that those who had furnished the supplies for her armies were infinitely worse than our shoddy men. Corruption characterized every official, from Napoleon down. It seems that in Russia there is a condition of affairs as bad as can be conceived. A writer gives this picture

Officialism in Russia is one vast, overgrown system of corruption and bribery, pervading all classes, eating into all her industries and thoroughly corrupting her morals. It is such a wide spreading infernal machinery as other nations can scarcely comprehend. From the meanest persons who wear imperial livery to the very princes of the imperial blood the whole is corrupt. A system of black mail and 'take what you can' runs through all. Take the customs—you bribe the officer of your district and spare the half of the duty. You refuse to bribe and the officer and his family starve, because the Government allows him such a paltry pittance that he can only starve upon it, taking for granted that he will help himself. If, as a merchant you require your letters delivered punctually, and not destroyed you must bribe the post officials for the same reason. If you want for your son the university certificate which enables him to serve in the army one year instead of five, your son does not require to know anything; all that is wanted is a couple of hundred of roubles to the professors of the university. In the army the system of blackmail is complete from the ranks of the field marshal

It is a fact thoroughly well understood here that Russia is actually in a state of bankruptcy and if they were to go to war to-morrow they would find themselves in quite as bad a plight as Turkey is now, without possessing anything like natural resources of Turkey

In America, very nearly everything that is disreputable is brought to light by a free press. The existence of two rival political parties exerts a powerful influence in restraining those who would be wrong doers if opportunities presented themselves. Rival politicians are perpetually searching for rascalities and they charge the worst of offences upon the very slightest degree of evidence. Three quarters of the alleged corruption never had an existence. The outlook is certainly a good one. The Republican party has corrected abuses by its own partisans as well as those committed by Democrats and the people have made reform the leading issue in the Presidential campaign. We believe that during the next four years we will have as honest a civil service as it is possible to maintain as long as human nature remains as it is. There is a certainly proportion of weakness and dishonesty that cannot be done away with, but those who yield to temptation will find their fate a hard one

REAL ESTATE AND THE STOCK MARKET.

Any one who has watched the fluctuations in the stock market and in the prices of real estate, will infer that there is a close connection between these two branches of business. There are quite a number of persons of wealth who keep clear of mining stocks and confine their speculations to land, but when the stock operators are pushed for money it is shown by the volume of the sales in this city and San Francisco. The amount of Comstock money that has found an investment here must be enormous and it has done much to quicken the growth of the city. A successful year at farming always has a similar effect. Oakland is more sensitive as an indicator of the general condition of business in the State than any other place. A great deal of our city real estate has no doubt been placed under the hammer of the auctioneer, to make good the margins upon falling stock, and if there were a balancing of accounts there might not be much difference in the amount of good and of evil that has been caused. The condition of the stock market should be noted by the people who are intending to sell. If there is an uneasy or panicky feeling, offers for Oakland property will be fewer and smaller, but when the stock men feel good over big profits, they are in a condition to make investments here at good rates, knowing that they are safe and beyond the control of the bulls and the bears

WORTHLESS REPORTS.

Those who rely upon the San Francisco papers for news about Oakland will be sadly misinformed upon the affairs of our city, for they get things wrong more frequently than right. In the Bulletin last evening, for instance, occurs the following paragraph under the head of "Oakland Matters"

It is authoritively stated that thirteen cases of smallpox exist in this city

If there were that much smallpox in Oakland the condition of affairs would be somewhat alarming, but the fact is that there were only two cases, one of them at the pest house and the other at a private residence on Eighth street. Almost every day we might point out inaccuracies. We are always glad to see outside journals take an interest in Oakland affairs, but if they persist in getting things wrong it would be better for them and for our city to keep silent.

THERE is doubtless much scheming among politicians for places on the Electoral ticket. A great many old hacks aspire to that distinction, for it is popularly supposed that each Elector will obtain a fat office if the ticket wins. We hope that for the appearance of the thing, the State Convention will choose men who are not obnoxious, as it will be one of the minor considerations that will have weight with the public.

—A motto displayed during the campaign in Ohio a year ago was: "In Hayes we trust—in Allen we bust."

DURING the year ending June 30th, 1876, the mines in the Pacific States yielded $30,323,900 in silver, and $8,868,900 in gold, making a total of $39,192,800. The yield has been remarkably large. When the Government issues fifty million dollars silver coin as proposed our silver mines will not by this great productiveness, be the cause of the low price of that metal. The demonetizing of silver in Europe and the glut of it in Oriental countries, are the real cause of the present depreciation

Whatever the politicians may think, the people of the Union are generally in favor of the one-term principle. The Presidential term ought to be extended to six years and at its expiration, the incumbent should be allowed an annuity which would place him beyond want. The country has been disgraced by the poverty of some some of her ex Presidents and it will be a good time during the next administration to introduce a change in our political system that will be greatly to its advantage

—France exported, last year false hair beautifully got up in different shapes, to the amount of 130 tons worth nearly two million francs. Nearly the whole of this went to England and America. The Paris chiffoniers now carefully collect all small paper parcels with hair combings, which ladies and servants daily throw out of the windows and obtain five francs per kilogram for the combings

— 'Where is your husband' asks a gentleman in Paris. 'He went out to buy a cigar' replies the lady. 'Has he been gone long' 'Eighteen years.' 'He is quite right' remarks the gentleman philosophically 'he wants to choose a good one'

YOUNG MEN

WHO MAY BE SUFFERING FROM THE effects of youthful follies or indiscretion will do well to avail themselves of this the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity. DR SPINNEY will guarantee to forfeit $500 for every case of seminal weakness or private disease of any kind or character which he undertakes and fails to cure. He would therefore say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice that you are treading upon dangerous ground when you longer delay in seeking for the proper remedy for your complaint. You may be in the first stage; remember you are approaching the last. If you are bordering upon the last and are suffering some or all its effects remember that if you persist in procrastination the time must come when the most skillful physician can render you no assistance, when the door of hope will be closed against you, when no angel of mercy can bring you relief. In no case has the doctor failed of success. Then let not despair work upon your imagination, but avail yourself of the beneficial results of his treatment before your case is beyond the reach of medical skill, or before grim old death hurries you to a premature grave. A Bad Flint.

On the 18th instant a man named A. L. Flint was arrested in this city for obtaining goods under false pretenses. Yesterday a gentleman from San Francisco called on Chief Rand and demanded the arrest of the said Flint, charging him with adultery, stating that he was living with a woman at one of our hotels and passing her off as his wife, while the woman he had lawfully married awaited his coming in San Francisco. His case will come up for hearing at an early day.

Verdict on Kreg.

The following are the names of the jurors who sat last evening on the body of Fred. Kreg, the particulars of whose death appeared in the TRIBUNE yesterday. Geo. E. Dunning, William Smith, John Glore, Wm. Adams, C. H. Wentworth, J. B. Klump and A. W. Syfelt. The conclusion they arrived at was that deceased was a native of Germany, and aged from 40 to 50 years, occupation a saloon keeper, and we do find that he came to his death from a pistol shot wound in the head fired by his own hand, with suicidal intent.

Building and Loan Association.

The Home Security Building and Loan Association of Alameda County will hold their annual meeting at the office of the Association, rooms 8 and 9 Benitz Block, corner of Tenth and Broadway, at 7½ o'clock next Monday evening. This meeting is called for the purpose of electing nine Trustees, a Secretary, Treasurer and an attorney to serve for the ensuing year. Other important business will be transacted. The attendance of every stockholder is particularly requested.

The Anti-Coolie Clubs.

While the anti-coolie clubs of San Francisco seem to be in full blast—the movement appears to have, to a great extent, died out in Oakland. There are both wise and unwise methods to cure this growing evil. Hot-headed enthusiam and attempted social procription of the employers of Chinese we think will not prove an effectual remedy. This movement to be successful must be treated in an intelligent and patriotic matter.

Rebekah Social Postponed.

The social which was to have been given last evening by the ladies of Oakland Rebekah Degree Lodge, No. 16, I. O. O. F., was postponed until the 2d of next month on account of the death of their brother Lewis Gaus.

To Arrive.

The following residents of Oakland will arrive this evening by the overland train: Capt. Wm. Harwood and wife and G. H. Harrison.

THERE ARE MANY AGREEABLE peculiarities in the climate of Oakland, among which may be noted the fact that many matrimonial unions that have not been prolific of "little darlings" elsewhere, have, on the removal of the parties to Oakland been blessed with a "quiver full of them," as is demonstrated by the number of high chairs, cradles, etc., sold by Shellhaas, Eleventh street, Odd Fellows' Building.

THE RAILROAD COHEN SUIT.

Further Testimony in the Case—Claim Against the Ralston Estate.

In the suit of the Central Pacific Railroad Company vs. A. A. Cohen, in the Twelfth District Court of San Francisco, the examination of H. B. Tichenor was resumed yesterday morning. The witness had refreshed his memory, and found that he had stated the facts in former testimony. He still held the balance over and above the $200,000; had never tendered the money to the former owners. On his redirect examination the witness said the ferry slip was built after the first sale of the property. Cohen acted as agent in making the payments. The witness seemed to have a remarkably poor memory, as neither side could elicit the exact information desired.

A DEED FROM RALSTON.

Tichenor said no deed was ever made by Ralston to him conveying back the property. He was positive of it.

Cohen handed the witness a deed from Ralston to Tichenor, dated October 28, 1870, to block 9, the consideration being $5, which deed the witness had no recollection of ever receiving.

The Court here took a recess, and convened again at 2 o'clock, when the cross-examination was resumed by Delos Lake. The witness testified that the $40,000 was paid on the 1st of November. According to the contract with Tillinghast, I may have borrowed the money from him. It's so long ago, and there are so many turns, that I can't make it out. It is possible that I made a mistake as to the $40,000. It might be that Cohen furnished it as a loan. He had something to do with negotiating it as a loan. It might be that Cohen furnished it, expecting to be reimbursed by the February payment, and that the company's check dated the 31st of January, 1871, went to him on that account. There is in my hands now still due Ralston and Cohen on the original purchase $25,237 77; that is, subtracting interest and everything from $250,000. It is enhanced by the allowance of interest for all the time it has been in my hands. The railroad company began to pay me interest on July 15, 1870. Whenever the company paid me interest it went to the credit of Cohen and Ralston. I allowed them interest at one per cent.

WHO PAID THE RENT.

Mr. Peart recalled—The railroad company first occupied room 4 in '69, in June, July, and August. Next they rented 3 in addition. They took 417, the basement, Nov. 1, 1869. They occupied it up to October 1, 1870. They occupied No. 3 during September, November and December. I can't tell anything about Mr. Cohen's occupancy or the time. I cannot swear that he rented them from me, though it is my impression. Am certain of having received rent from Mr. Cohen.

HUNTINGTON'S DEPOSITION.

At this point Mr. McAllister read the deposition of Mr. Huntington, setting forth that Cohen was employed by the various corporations before mentioned as forming the Central Pacific. Cohen was employed by the Central Pacific. He was paid $10,000 per annum. How long and from when I don't know. In the Summer of 1869 I asked Stanford whether the railroad owned block 9. He re-referred me to Cohen, and he said that it neither owned nor had a lease of it. He said that McLane and Ralston had an interest in the block. Ralston said also that Tichenor had an interest in it. Cohen, Tichenor, Ralston and I had an interview at the bank, and the three consulted together, and Cohen then told me the block could be purchased for $250,000, and that that was the lowest price. I don't know anything about the carrying out of the contract.

A. A. COHEN

Was called and asked a few questions in regard to his Presidency of the Oakland and Alameda roads. Was President up to the time of their consolidation with the Central Pacific. He built the ferry slip near block 9 after the purchase of the block from Tichenor. Put no improvements on the block; commenced the ferry slip in August, 1868.

Henry Root, civil engineer on the road, testified that the shed and wharf were both extended after 1869. The improvements on block 9 and adjoining property were worth $119,000. The value of these improvement would have been decreased had the company surrendered the property at the expiration of the lease. The total expense of improvements down to 1873 was $150,000.

CHARLES CROCKER

Also testified to some technical facts in regard to the purchase of the block.

E. H. Miller, Jr., Secretary of the Central Pacific Railroad Company, testified that he made affidavit to the complaint. About the 15th of October, 1870, paid Cohen $15,000 as salary. He got $10,000 a year until 1875. Knew the schooners Elko and Truckee. They cost the company $26,000; they were sold to Cohen for $9,000. Was aware that Cohen was transportion coal, but knew nothing about the details.

After some tolerably sharp but unimportant words between the witness and the defendant, the Court adjourned.

Nobody to Blame.

In the case of the fatal street-car accident, reported in yesterday's TRIBUNE, the Coroner's jury was in session last evening, but failed to find that the driver of the car was in any wise culpable for the sad accident, that caused the death of the little boy, Johnny Ayres.

Guitar for Sale Cheap.

A beautiful guitar, with fine Troy patent keys, Gesmar silver screws, rosewood back, double sided, inlaid with pearls, fine tone, same as the Martin. Cost $40; price, $15, at Uncle Harris, 702 Kearney, between Clay and Merchant streets. *

Ho, for a Thousand Tongues.

To proclaim to the people of Oakland the bargains that Messrs. Farwell & Hirshberg, No. 1103 Broadway, are offering in the way of gent's furnishing goods, trunks, satchels, etc. Don't fail to call. Equal attention to all—rich and poor. *

Lectures to Come.

Preparations have been made for a course of three lectures in the new M. E. Church in Oakland—to be delivered by Drs. Tower, Stratton and Gibson. That they will be richly worth all they will cost we have no doubt.

Good Place to Board.

Good boarding at the Soracco House, corner of Pine and Railroad avenue, West Oakland, for only $5 per week; with lodging, $6. No Chinese help. *

YOU WILL ALL FEEL GAY AND [illegible] when you call and get Shellhaas' prices [illegible] Shellhaas, Eleventh street.

LOWER BROADWAY.

New Buildings to be Erected and old ones Renovated.

The TRIBUNE mentioned the fact the other day that in consequence of the completion of the works at Broadway wharf, the property had largely increased in price from Seventh street down Broadway to the boat landing. On going down to the water front this morning we heard in many directions the sound of the hammer, saw and trowel. We also learned that it was contemplated to erect new buildings on the sites now occupied by old ones.

BERNEDO FERNANDEZ

Intends to put up on his ground, upon which now stands a little shanty at the corner of Second and Broadway, a fine brick structure three stories high with the basement. It will contain several fine stores and the upper portion of the building will be used as offices and sleeping rooms. This we are assured will be an ornament to that part of the street.

JUDGE MCKEE

Is having a new glass front put into what is known as the McKee building, on the corner of Fourth and Broadway. The upper portion of the building is to receive a handsome cornice. Many workmen are busily employed in effecting these improvements, which when complete, will give the place an appearance of an entire new building. The work will be finished in about two weeks. We were also informed that will shortly commence on a brick building, on the corner of Fifth and Broadway, on the site now occupied by the Court House saloon and other places of business. This will also add much to the appearance of that locality. The structure is to be three stories high.

THE OLD WHITE HOUSE,

Near Broadway wharf, well known to many of our early citizens, is now being renovated and the honors of trade will be divided between a saloon, and eating and coffee house. This building is owned by the proprietor of the Overland house of this city. A few days will suffice to make the contemplated change. Not far from this

W. H. CARPENTER

Is making extensive repairs on the old Oakland Livery stable. He will complete the repairs in a week, and will then be enabled to accommodate forty horses.

CHARLES BAUER

Is removing a wooden building from his lot, corner of Eighth and Broadway, up to new Broadway. On the old site he will construct a fine new brick building to be devoted to business purposes. On lower Broadway, particularly on that portion extending from Seventh street to the Company's wharf, there is every reason to believe that further improvements than those above mentioned will soon be made. All the old buildings in the vicinity of the wharf are doomed at an early date to give way to large and handsome places of business.

An Enterprising Firm.

The real estate firm of Messrs. Mather, Milbury & Co., 907 Broadway, is one that can be recommended to the general public. The gentleman are thoroughly familiar with the business, and its requirements, and conduct the same on strictly business principles. They are extensively and popularly known, are wide-awake, enterprising and reliable, say what they mean, and mean what they say. Houses and lands of all kinds, in all localities and at all prices, will be found on their books. Parties having lands for sale, houses and lots for sale or to rent, will find in Mather, Millbury & Co., fair-dealing, energetic, live and reliable agents. To those who may be seeking bargains or investments in improved real estate, we would suggest that they call on the above firm, and we are almost confident they can be suited. The firm is new, but the gentleman composing it are old at the business, and are posted in every nook and corner in Alameda county. There is hardly a man, woman or child in Oakland who does not know either our quiet and mild friend Millbury, or the jolly, genial, and busy Mather. Our devil says:

Look brothers, look with caire
On the books of S. H. Mathaire,
Before you invest one dollaire,
In real estate here or thaire.
Mather, Millbury & Co. prefaire,
To deal strictly on the squaire,
In the houses and lands mattaire,
Just the same with the millionaire,
As the poor man of the newspapaire,
So help us Emperor Norton, by Gaire!

Fast Driving.

We have received several complaints from citizens of the furious manner in which some persons drive along the streets of our city. While the evil is not carried to anything like the extent here that it is in San Francisco, it is nevertheless of sufficent magnitude to warrant notice. Some persons when inside a buggy think that foot passengers have no rights which they are bound to respect. A citizen on foot has equal rights to a street crossing as a man on horseback or in a carriage, and when these rights are dangerously violated, a strict application of the law will operate as a check.

Idle Men.

Although very many buildings are in course of erection in Oakland and the construction of still more contemplated, there has been for some time past a number of workmen here seeking for employment. Every day brings us mechanics from San Francisco asking our contractors for a job. Our labor market, though not overstocked like that of the Bay City is nevertheless abundantly supplied with mechanics in all branches of trade. We state this for the information of all those who are at present out of work.

Have You Been There?

Have you called on C. Schreiber, the popular furniture dealer? Mr. S. has a large stock, which he is offering at such prices as will compel people to buy. A very large stock of plain, fancy and very elegant furniture on hand—No. 1105 and 1107 Broadway. *

Reward Offered.

Governor Irwin offers a reward of $300 for the first and $200 for each subsequent arrest and conviction of the parties who burned the Chinese cabins on Trout creek, near Truckee last month, murdered one of the occupants and seriously wounded another.

Personal.

Mr. Henry Quarles, who has for some time been on the editorial staff of the Transcript has severed his connection with that journal.

Message.

There is an undelivered telegram in the Atlantic and Pacific Telegraph Office for Mrs. Mrs. M. W. Goddard.

BROOKLYN LITERARY SOCIETY.

Songs, Speeches and Recitations—A Good Time Generally.

The above society gave one of their usual instructive and social entertainments last evening, at Odd Fellows' Hall, East Oakland. The meeting was called to order by President A. Crawford. The Treasurer, Mr. Holmes, called the roll, each member responding.

Miss Louisa Leise performed a very exquisite instrumental piece upon the piano, which received the well merited applause of all present.

Mr. Holiday gave an essay on wind insects—he produced a large chart and made his subject very interesting.

MRS. T. M. WAIT.

From San Francisco, favored the company with a song. This lady it will be remembered formed one of the principle attractions of the entertainment given last June by this society. She possesses a rare and powerful voice, and sings with that grace and ease which always command the highest encomiums.

THE DEBATE POSTPONED.

It was decided that the question for discussion be postponed, after which H. W. Barnes was called upon for a reading and gave a burlesque on the Declaration of Independence, much to the amusement of the audience. Mr. Holmes was called for, and gave a selection from a poem given him. The sentiment contained in this little piece was of first rate order.

The next person who responded to a call was W. K. McPherson, who sang "How to Make Saur kraut," which caused much laughter.

AFTER RECESS.

Mrs. T. M. Wait, Mr. Campbell, Mr. McPherson and others, did all in their power for the amusement of the society and were tendered a vote of thanks.

Major G. W. Barter acted as critic of the evening.

THIRD DISTRICT COURT.

HON. S. B. MCKEE, Judge.

MORNING SESSION—Thursday July 20

The following cases came up in this court for hearing to-day:

Brayton vs. City of Oakland—case continued and set for trial July 21st.

Maria Sharp vs. Savings and Loan Society—et al. Case set for trial July 21st.

People vs. Morter—pleads not guilty and case reserved for trial.

Derby vs. Glass—continued.

Hawley vs. W. H. H. Graves—submitted and to be argued at a future day.

Page vs. Tucker—Case continued for term on motion of plaintiff.

J. J. Richards vs. R. E. Union now on trial.

C. J. Robinson vs. John Graham—Case dismissed at plaintiff's cost.

COUNTY COURT.

STEPHEN G. NYE, JUDGE.

The following business was transacted in the County Court this morning:

The entire time of the County Court was taken up this morning by the case of the People vs. Duffery indicted for Burglary. The case has been tried and submitted, but up to time of our going to press the jury were still out.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

The following transfers have been made since our last report:

Burglary Last Night.

About three weeks ago the stove and tin store of J. Dalziel, 1149 Broadway, was entered, the safe broken open and $488 abstracted therefrom. Not being satisfied with this exploit, a second visit was paid to the establishment last night. A large pane of glass was broken in the window of the back workshop, from which the front store, where the safe is kept, was easily entered. The safe had not been repaired, and as the lock was broken no difficulty was experienced in opening it. Of course there was no coin in it, but the burglars searched amongst the books and papers, without any financial result. A small drawer in the desk, however, contained $5 in ten-cent pieces, which sum was taken away by the thief.

Ex-Convict Arrested.

Our police last evening arrested Thomas Summers, who has been in the State Prison, and for whom the police have been sometime looking. He was arrested about two months ago in Sacramento for a burglary committed in Colusa. He broke jail, went back to San Francisco and resumed his old tricks, forging an order for $80, and another on a barkeeper at the corner of Hayes and Market streets. He then "skipped the gutter" and brought up in Reno. Nevada, where he picked the pocket of a San Francisco ship-chandler named Charles Hare, of a variety of valuables and a railroad ticket. He incautiously showed his face in our city yesterday, was recognized and taken in custody. Oakland is not a good place for old offenders to visit.

Police Court.

The following cases were up for hearing before the Police Judge this morning:

John Dannelly, charged with burglary in the second degree was held to answer before the grand jury. Bail fixed at $1,000.

S. S. Hierschman, was arraigned for pedling without city license, trial set for July 21st.

Mary Wilson for being drunk was fined $6 or three days in jail. Mary begged hard to be excused from punishment, but the Judge thinking she deserved time for cool reflection sent her below.

G. L. Flint charged with adultery, was arraigned pleaded not guilty. Case set for July 21st. Bail fixed at $500.

Morgan's Concerts.

Owing to the great success which attended the concert recently given by Mr. Morgan, he has been induced to give a grand series of concerts of which due notice will be given.

THE SMALLPOX.

A Pestiferous Poem in Four Convulsions—Also, Some Pestilential Prose from the Point.

I.

Fellow citizens, upon you I call!
The City Council will kill us all.
See what they have done, with dire intent,
Made a Pest House of a cotton tent.

II.

Far in the marsh, without any pity
Upon the people of this fair city.
The wind that passes from that direction
Is sure to convey the bad infection.

III.

The City Council, if it had good sense,
Would take the patients out of those tents,
And put them somewhere to the leeward—
Say out among the foothills. Is that hard?

IV.

Then build a shanty over on Bay Island,
And put them there. Perhaps a
Floating hospital on Lake Chabot
Would prove the best thing to do.

While the whole community, in dread see the smallpox growing epidemic, it becomes necessary to adopt such means as will lead to its suppression—to adopt such measures as will impede its devastating course. We have, when not threatened by malaria so fatal as this, appointed men whose duty it is to see to the sanitary condition of our fair city. But now, when we most need their services, we find them not only incapable of superintending a work of so much consequence, but in their very ignorance building a Pest House at the Point.

What more insane idea could emanate from the destroyed brain of a madman than this? They built a Pest House for the accommodation of the worst patients, and built it where every breeze that blows over the city becomes poisoned with it; then, inhaled by the unconscious inhabitants, communicates in turn to them the fatal disease. If we are to have a Pest House, let it be built out on the rocky-besomed foothills, where its poisoned breath cannot reach us.

In other cities, where the ravages of yellow fever, cholera, or some such deadly plague has robbed them of their inhabitants, we have examples of the fatal consequence of a false step, and now, before it is too late, let us act determinately and not allow a Pest House to built there.

The consequence of neglecting this most precautionary measure will be many happy Oakland homes made desolate; and the chair where now sits as parent, brother or sister, is made vacant by this fearful monster, whose appetite is so great that it can destroy thousands of best friends and loved ones without being appeased. NUFF CED.

PROFESSOR BALDWIN.

What a Correspondent Thinks of His Performance.

EDITORS TRIBUNE:—I do not belong to that class of persons called spiritualists. If their doctrines, and especially that relating to the interference of departed spirits in human affairs be true, then my experience has not been sufficient to enable me fully to understand it. Nevertheless, I have frequently witnessed phenomena that lies

OUTSIDE OF SCIENCE,

And which has defied explanation or classification by the most scientic minds in the present day. I prefer to disbelieve in the agency of spirits in bringing about these phenomena until disbelieving becomes impossible. It is with me a greater evidence of wisdom to be skeptical, than to yield a ready credence, and call in spirits to account for a thing which after all may be the operation of not-yet-understood laws of nature. The little conjuring tricks of Mr. Baldwin I have seen scores of times, they have neither charm nor novelty for me. I went to see Mr. Baldwin, and I do not object to his charging a fee any more than I object to payment for any other kind of show. But I am sure that to those who, like myself, have witnessed the strange phenomena, above mentioned, Mr. Baldwin made no explanation or exposure that was in any degree satisfactory.

HE LEAVES THE MIND

Just where he found it—in darkness and in doubt. He is rushing through the country—making challenges, and what is still more important to him making money. If the spiritualists think him wicked for doing this, then let them look at many of their own mediums—they are becoming rich. They take a great deal of public money without giving anything in return. Mr. Baldwin's boast that if he had seen the occurrences at

MR. CLARK'S HOUSE

In this city, he would have been enabled to account for them, is a very convenient way of exhibiting his own prowess. Mr. Baldwin claims that both himself and wife are clairvoyants, he does not pretend that there is any trickery in this, but that it is simply a gift. Why then mix up truth with deceptive conjuring tricks. A preacher might as well take a pack of cards into his pulpit and try to astonish instead of enlightening his hearers. Oh, money! money! money! what dreadful deeds are done for thy sake! I am sure that those who like myself, witnessed the performances of Mr. Baldwin and wife have also seen the so-called spiritual phenomena, have come to the conclusion that he is a very inferior imitator and a still worse elucidator. JOHANNES.

ATTEMPT TO SHOOT AN OFFICER.

A Suspicious Character Escapes.

As special officer Brown was on duty at Brooklyn last night, he observed a man with his boots off, carrying the same in his hands and otherwise making suspicious movements. The officer concealed himself as well as possible, and after a time managed to creep close up to the midnight prowler. Confronting him suddenly, he inquired, "What are you doing here?" The man replied, "I am but cannot find it." All this time he was making a slow but cautious retreat from officer Brown, who commanded him to halt. This only caused him to attempt a quicker movement of retreat. Brown called out to him "If you do not stop I will shoot." Instantly the suspicious character drew a revolver and fired at him, but the ball passed by harmlessly. The officer then drew his weapon and fired, and this caused a hasty flight of the bootless man. He was soon out of sight, and though officers Taylor and Manly came to his assistance, the would-be assassin escaped. It is more than surmised that he was on a burglarious mission, as he was seen to try a door knob and but for the appearance on the scene of the officer would probably have effected his errand. The shooting was done not many feet apart, and it is a wonder that some one was not wounded. Officer Brown is conscious that he is not hit, but he is not so sure about the fate of the man. Property owners must be on their guard for there are many of these suspicious characters around, and however vigilant the police may be, it is impossible for them to be a match in all cases for the craft and cunning of these bad characters.

LOOKING FOR A HOUSE,

Those Handbills.

Cushing & Ryder, general grocerymen, thought that a few hundred handbills posted on the sidewalks would attract customers, and employed a bill-sticker to affix the same. Some one having a large amount of time on his hands went behind the bill-sticker and scrubbed them off. Good for the printer, but not very good for for somebody else.

HEALD'S BUSINESS COLLEGE,
No. 24 Post Street
San Francisco, Cal.

This School is designed to educate pupils for the practical affairs of life. It makes Business Education a specialty; yet its instruction is not confined to Book-keeping and Arithmetic merely, but gives such broad culture as the times now demand. Thorough instruction is given in all the branches of an English education, and Modern Languages are practically taught. The discipline of the School is excellent, and its system of Actual Business Practice is unsurpassed.

LADIES' DEPARTMENT.—Ladies will be admitted for instruction in all departments of the College.

TELEGRAPH DEPARTMENT.—Young men and ladies are practically and thoroughly fitted for operators.

GENERAL INFORMATION.—Pupils may enter at any time, as there are no vacations, and each receives separate instruction. For further particulars call at the College, 24 Post street, or address for circulars.

SAFETY AND ECONOMY.

OFFICE OAKLAND GASLIGHT CO.,
February 1 1875.

IN PURSUANCE OF THE POLICY followed by the Company since its formation, viz. to lower its rates as rapidly as [illegible] warranted by the growth of the city, the price of gas will be reduced on the

1st Day of March Next

—TO—

$4 25 PER 1,000 CUBIC FEET.

Considering the value [illegible] the limited use of gas and [illegible] between the places of consumption [illegible]

Oakland will be the most cheaply lighted city in the Union.

This price will leave [illegible] for the use of any illuminating [illegible] the lines of the Company's mains [illegible] which are now [illegible] laid unproductive [illegible]

The advantages to be [illegible] from Cheap Gas are 1st —A daily saving [illegible] of one of the necessaries of life.

2d.—A decrease in [illegible] fires caused by the [illegible] still use of petroleum.

3d.—A saving of [illegible] stationary lights for [illegible]

4th —The most convenient [illegible] light brought within the means of [illegible] household.

However small the [illegible] will be great. If insurance [illegible] will be lessened; if not [illegible] will be decreased.

This reduction [illegible] to the Company, by the [illegible] a sufficient number of new [illegible] to compensate for the lessened [illegible] receipts, and it will [illegible] of all consumers [illegible] their neighbors to adopt [illegible] further reductions [illegible] future.

Camels on Mount Davidson.

A train of eight camels left Virginia City recently loaded with wood for the summit of Mount Davidson. Each animal carried about one-third of a cord of wood. The train reached the summit and approached to within about 150 yards of the flag-staff without much difficulty. They could not be taken nearer, as the peak is all bare granite, twisted in all directions and cut up by deep channels or crevices. Across this patch of rocks the wood on the bonfire must be carried on the shoulders of men. A herd of eight camels standing on the summit of Mount Davidson nearly 8,000 feet above the level of the sea was a novel sight and should have been photographed. The train will make another trip to the top of the mountain, carrying the remainder of the wood required for the [illegible] Although it is the general supposition that camels cannot travel when taken off the sands of the deserts, these, nearly all of which were Nevada born, seem to be pretty good mountain climbers.

Sensibility is like the stars that can lead one only when the sky is clear. Reason is the magnetic needle that guides the ship when they are wrapt in darkness.

An old bachelor who died recently left a will dividing all his property equally among the surviving [illegible] who had refused him, "Because," said he, "to them I owe all my earthly happiness."

"Dey ain't no niggers on the top side of [illegible]" said a colored man at [illegible] the other day, putting his hand to his bandaged head, "what can sing a hymn an' put de gear on a kickin' mule at de same time."

A little boy, a few days since, while coming down stairs, was cautioned by his mother not to lose his balance. His question which followed was a puzzler. "Mother, if I should loose my balance where would it go to?"

—"I make it a principle not to lend money," said a good man to a friend yesterday, "but in your case I sacrifice principle for interest." And when the latter, says the Norwich Bulletin, found he had charged 20 per cent discount he thought he did.

—An aged and uncouth [illegible] was begging of pedestrians, when a policeman asked him why he didn't go to the poor house.

"I go to the poor house?" exclaimed the old man.

"Why, yes. It would be much better than begging."

"You keep away from me, sir!" growled the vagrant. "A man who will deliberately advise me to degrade my character and stain honor is an unsafe officer, and I will have you broken, sir."
